

WINTER (DJF) 2010/2011 AIR TEMPERATURE AND PRECIPITATION FOR MACEDONIA

Average seasonal air temperature for winter (December, January and February) 2010/2011 over the territory of Macedonia was above normal. The seasonal air temperature anomalies in reference to (1961-1990 period) have been in range from (0.0°C) for Demir Kapija and (1.6°C) for Bitola.

The coldest winter month was December 2010. Air temperature anomalies in reference to (1961-1990) have been in range from of 0.4°C for Demir Kapija and 2.1° C for Bitola.

The seasonal precipitation amounts were below normal. Compared with the period (1961-1990), the precipitation anomalies have been in range -21.8 mm for Demir Kapija and 15.3mm in Prilep.

The highest precipitation amounts were registered in December and the lowest precipitation were registred in February.