

Analysis of air temperature and precipitation for Summer of 2010

Air temperature in summer season ranged from 15.4°C (in Zabljak) to 24.9°C (in Podgorica). Air temperature deviations were positive and ranged between 1°C (in Ulcinj) and 3.2°C (in Rozaje).

Characteristic season air temperature is higher than normal values, according to the distribution of percentile ranges in the category of warm, very warm and extremely hot,

Distribution of percentiles of air temperature for the summer of 2010

The amount of rainfall during summer ranged from 68mm (the Bar) to 280mm (in Cetinje). The percentage of the amount realized from the climate normal is between 43% (Pljevlja) to 115% (in Niksic). According to the distribution of rainfall percentile ranges in the category of very dry (the area of Pljevlja), dry and normal.

The distribution of percentile rainfall for the summer of 2010

